Sample case #1128

Demo pack

This is a synthetic sample generated for Shopify review and pre-purchase demos. It shows the exact evidence-pack layout Chargeback Copilot builds from dispute, order, customer, fulfillment, refund, and transaction records.

Use this file to review the workflow, data coverage, and PDF format. It is a sample case, not a live submission file.

What this demo shows

- The dispute reason, amount, status, and evidence deadline pulled from the Shopify Payments case
- The order timeline, purchased items, totals, customer identity, and billing and shipping details
- Fulfillment, tracking, payment, AVS/CVV, prior-order, and refund signals used to support the response
- The reason-specific checklist, merchant statement draft, and attachment list the app prepares for review

Merchant statement

This transaction was placed and fulfilled as a legitimate customer purchase. We are providing objective evidence of fulfillment/delivery and identity consistency (billing/shipping/email/IP). If applicable, we also include prior paid purchase history for the same customer identity to demonstrate an established relationship.

Key points

- Order confirmation and timestamps (processed, fulfilled, delivered).
- Carrier tracking link and delivery scan (and signature proof if available).
- Billing and shipping address used for the order.
- Checkout client IP and identity consistency signals (if available).
- Payment verification results (AVS/CVV codes) if available from Shopify Payments.
- Prior paid orders for the same customer identity (if available).

Tip: Keep the statement factual. Avoid assumptions about the cardholder. Attach objective proofs such as tracking, delivery, prior orders, and communications.

How the live workflow works

For a real dispute, Chargeback Copilot syncs the Shopify Payments case, assembles a pack like this, and gives the merchant a checklist plus PDF summary. The merchant reviews the pack, adds any extra screenshots or policy attachments, and submits the final evidence in Shopify admin before the deadline.
